Whose thoughts are shared with you?

My thoughts are shared with Shukumar because of how complicated his life is with his wife. He has been trying to work on his projects. The other problem is that with the worrying about the repairs and marriage he is in which is making it harder for him.

What do you know about each character thus far?

I know about him by how he and his family are struggling with the house. How he is trying to finish his project but gets interrupted by other problems. How is also concerned about his marriage and how it will stay.

- What details indicate that something has happened that changed their lives?

That he is focused on projects but then the house needs repairs for the electricity. They are struggling with two things.
